Dear Chris Maile

Thanks for this.

I too would prefer a public inquiry but I do not know what this would entail for me.

In view of my ignorance and the fact that apart from you, I am acting alone, I had to agree to a hearing.

The deadline was today.

I always prefer a public inquiry, although the hearing can suit people who are not used to the process. There is not the ability to take the other side to task with a hearing, although some inspectors will allow some questioning to take place.

It really is your choice.
