Subject: RE: St James' Place, Brighton

Dear Colin

Although the legal advice may turn out to be that an appeal would be inadvisable (given the way in which the odds are stacked against appellants), it would be helpful if I could have the following information, please. Brighton and Hove Council will need to publish an official "Notice of Confirmation" of the order. The six week period during which an appeal must be lodged commences on the date of publication of the notice. Please can you let me know if it has been published yet (I don't think that it has been, as we do not appear to have received it from the council here), or tip me off when it does in fact appear?

Thank you very much.

Eugene
